Eyening-wear Capes and Jackets

THESE new ones are partly from Parisian celebrities in the fashioning world, and partly from our good Ameri-can designers. See if you can distinguish the foreign fancies from the domestic designs. You cannot fail to be struck with the fact that New York has little to learn from Paris in this branch of Art in Dress.

These that we speak of this morning are the graceful, elab-orate, fanciful, beautiful garments intended for wear over evening dress,—the kind which enhances a toilette though concealing it. We cannot tell you too often of the time and care that has been put into the selection of these garments. They have few equals and no duplicates. There are some beauties in fine black silk and chiffon:-

shoulder-capes. One in particular, at $33, will awake some enthusiasm. All are new,—not here a week yet. You can pay up to $110, if you like, or as little as $5. You'll be pleased, whatever you pay.

Some Parlor Tables

A MAKER of finest Parlor Furniture took a gloomy view of the situation and prospects the other day and determined that money was better than stock-on-hand. He got the money, we got the furniture, and the vigor of his determination to sell may be found reflected in the following prices: $7.50; formerly $11.50 $8.50; formerly $13 $12; formerly $18 $5.50; formerly $8.25 $6; formerly $9 $3.50; formerly $5.25

$6.50; formerly $10 $5; formerly $7.50 These pieces are Parlor Tables, all in that excellent finish of imitation mahogany which really out-mahoganies the genuine wood. There are eighteen different sorts.

After Manila, What?

UNTIL Dewey's great victory the dominion of Uncle Sam never reached beyond the borders of North America. Our national youth we have devoted to developing our own resources. At maturity, are we about to reach abroad for possessions like the old Roman Republic or our English cousins? What first turned Rome's attention to foreign conquest?

When and why did Great Britain begin her world circling The development of nations is not determined by Chance but by natural laws and principles, which it is the business of History to discover. NOW, more than ever before, it is important that Americans-young Americans, especially-should be familiar with the history of the nations that have preceded us in guiding the destinies of mankind.

Give Your Boy a Chance
